

Reservations

Device reservations are a way for you to capture a device for your own exclusive use. If you reserve a device, you are the only one who can access and interact with the device until one of the following takes place:

1. The reservation ends.
2. You actively release the device.
3. A device lab admin or project manager releases the device.

Reservations are time limited. The default reservation time is two hours (depending on device lab configuration) and you can extend the reservation should you require more time to work with the device.

There are three main reservation related actions that you can perform:

- Extend Device Reservation
- Release a Device
- Reserve a Device
