

Switch to SeeTest Automation

Manual users that started working with SeeTest Manual can switch their session to the SeeTest Automation Web Interface session.

This ability allows users to keep their session information and their mobile device reservation and gain extra automation development abilities such as object spy and code export.

This is done by clicking on the Automation tab and then "Let's Start Automating" button:

After the switch is done - the Manual testing license is released and one Development license is obtained.

Appium Projects

In case you are working in a project that is configured as Appium OSS, then when opening a device in automation mode the default Appium version is displayed at the left corner.

Currently only "NATIVE_APP" context is supported
